

THE GREAT JUPITER/SATURN CONJUNCTION

by Marion D. March

Here we are, another 20 year cycle, that 'dreaded' cycle when Jupiter and Saturn conjunct and supposedly bring about the death of a president elected in such a year. After all, hadn't Presidents Harrison (elected 1840), Lincoln (elected 1860), Garfield (elected 1880), McKinley (elected 1900), Harding (elected 1920) Roosevelt (elected 1940) and Kennedy (elected 1960) died or been assassinated while on office? True enough. But what about Zachary Taylor (elected 1848) who died in office in 1850? And how come Roosevelt was re-elected in 1944 and only died in 1945? And what about Harrison who died in April of 1841 while the great conjunction didn't take place until 1842? And how come Monroe, elected in 1820, did not die in office?

Let's lay a few old wife's tales to rest. Yes, we live in a fairly violent world and rather violent country, so many a president or other famous personality may be assassinated. We also demand a lot of our leaders and unless their health is fantastic and their stamina the best, we may wear them down into eventual sickness and even death. But can we only blame Jupiter and Saturn? Kelsey Richfield in CAO Times, Volume 4, No. 2, wrote a most interesting article showing that all the presidents who died since 1840 had strong Moon/Mars afflictions in their charts relating to the United States chart and many other important and difficult aspects.

What really is this great conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn. Jupiter takes approximately 12 years to circle the zodiac while Saturn needs about 28½ years. Every 20 years or so, the two giant planets meet to form a great conjunction. And it is 'great' when not only the longitude but also the latitude of the planets is the same. It then looks like one enormous star in the sky and many scholars believe that Christ was born under a Jupiter/Saturn conjunction in Pisces around 6 or 7 B.C. They also think that the Star of Bethlehem seen by the wise men was really Jupiter conjuncting Saturn in the heavens. In fact supposedly the great religious leaders of the world have all been born under this great conjunction. Mohammed when Jupiter and Saturn conjuncted in Scorpio about 571 A.D., Buddha when the conjunction occurred in Taurus around 581 B.C. and Moses about 1296 BC when the planets also met in Taurus. This would make good sense since Jupiter stands for religion and Saturn for form and tradition; the two together thus representing all great traditional religions. This great conjunction is also called a Great Mutation, because for about 200 years the two planets keep conjuncting in the same element. They move backwards as the years progress.

For example, the last Great Mutation started in Earth in January of 1842 in the sign of Capricorn. Nearly 20 years later, October 1961, the two planets met in Virgo and in April of 1881 in Taurus. November 1901 saw them back together in Capricorn, September 1921 in Virgo. In 1940/41 we had three conjunctions; the first in August 1940, the second in retrograde motion in October of 1940 and the third in direct motion in February 1951, all were in Taurus. February 1961 saw Jupiter and Saturn together in Capricorn. Now in 1981, they really should meet in Virgo, but there seems to be a 'slip-up', except that in nature there are no slip-ups and everything progresses as it should. Instead of Virgo, Jupiter and Saturn will conjunct in Libra. This will be the first break from the earth conjunctions since 1842. But it is only a break, because in May of 2000 the two planets will meet again in an Earth sign, namely Taurus. Only then is the cycle truly broken and in December of 2020 the Great Mutation begins in the Air sign Aquarius. In November 2040 the meeting takes place in Libra, in 2060 in Gemini and goes on to continue in air for another 120 years or so. Their next Great Mutation after that will be in Water.

What can we expect from this new element in our lives? The last Great Air Mutation occurred in 1127 A.D. in Libra and ended in 1405 in Aquarius. The Air cycle before that started in 332 A.D. also in Libra, and went through the 6th century. So this will be the first time since the birth of the United States that Jupiter and Saturn conjoin in Air. We all know what Earth meant: reality, matter, tangible and touchable things such as money and status and real estate and agriculture. Property, material possessions and financial considerations assumed greater importance in our lives, whereas the artistic and creative nature, even the romantic and pioneering side of man has been pushed into the background. But now we are ready to enter the Air cycle, and although not permanently, we should start to feel the impact, feel a difference of attitude.

Air is free and flowing and can't be contained. Air is intellectual, social, communicative, idea oriented and able to conceptualize. Air is the wish to learn and to know and to pass that knowledge on to others (Gemini); Air is the strategist and the artist, the person who needs to relate to others, in fact fears to be alone, but stays emotionally detached (Libra), and Air is the wish and need to understand the abstracts of tomorrow, to help others through uninvolved humanitarianism (Aquarius). All these qualities should slowly seek prominence in our lives. New and even more involvement through the media; novel approaches to education; more space explorations bringing us new awareness and understanding of the universe; the family as a new and more solid unit since on the way to starting the lofty Air cycle, we will find Saturn and Uranus and Neptune in Capricorn. And when the Great Mutation really starts in Aquarius in 2020, Pluto will be in Capricorn and Uranus in Taurus, a solid base for airy ideas. Neptune then will be in Pisces, adding spiritual understanding and compassion.

But what about now? What will this particular great conjunction which occurs three times, mean to us? The first conjunction takes place at 9:19 pm UT (Universal Time) at 9 Libra 30 on December 31, 1980. That would equate to 1:19 pm PST (Pacific Standard Time), 2:19 pm MST, 3:19 pm CST and 4:19 pm EST. The second conjunction takes place sometime on March 4, 1981. The exact time is hard to determine on the retrograde motion that both planets experience, but astrologically this will be at 8 Libra 07. The third conjunction happens on July 24, 1981; both planets are in direct motion at 4 Libra 57 and meet at 8:14 am UT which translates into 1:14 am PDT (Pacific Daylight Time)m 2:14 am MDT, 3:14 am CDT and 4:14 am EDT.

Besides the afore mentioned religious connotation of Jupiter conjunct Saturn and the possibility of another great religious leader being born into our age (or maybe the 'Antichrist' predicted in the bible), Jupiter and Saturn have very practical applications. They represent the economics (Jupiter) and politics (Saturn) of the world. Together they also become the institutional level of organized society. So this conjunction really affects us all on a very mundane level, the way we run our economy and our governments.

With the invaluable help of Johanna Koch, Bette Travis and the DR 70 of Angel Thompson, I have gathered much factual information to enable all of you to judge for yourselves. (Please see Table with explanatory notes and Astro*Carto*Graphy graph by Jim Lewis.) First we collected the horoscopes of all the independent countries of the world. Of those horoscopes I have selected all planets that are within reasonable orb of the three great conjunctions, and aspect by either conjunction, square or opposition. Jim Lewis, inventor of Astro*Carto*Graphy (P.O. Box 22293, San Francisco, CA 94122), has drawn a fantastic graph which shows exactly where the conjunctions are angular. It shows graphically which countries are affected and also if other planets happen to be on the same angle simultaneously. In column 3 of the table I give all the angle data for the conjunction of December 31, 1980 and July 24, 1981. Last but not least we collected the birthdates of the leaders of those countries which have either a planet in aspect (column 2) or are affected by the great conjunction being angular (column 3). The planets of those leaders who are in aspect to either or the three conjunctions are shown in column 4.

Some facts are quickly obvious: of 168 countries, 91 have some cardinal planets in aspect to the great conjunction; of those 91, 56 of their leaders also have cardinal planets in aspect. 37 countries have the conjunction on angles and 22 countries have aspects, the conjunction angular and leaders with planetary aspects. Seven countries, namely the U.S., Brazil, France, the USSR, Turkey, China and Australia have both great conjunctions on angles. Of these countries the U.S., France, USSR and Turkey also have other planets on the angles at the same time, that is Mercury, the Sun, Mars and Uranus, making the great conjunction more powerful yet. All seven countries and their leaders have planets in aspect to the conjunction (China to be checked out once a new leader is elected). In the United States Reagan's Mars at 4 Capricorn would be a bit more combative than Carter's Sun at 8 Libra or Anderson's Saturn at 7 Libra and Pluto at 8 Cancer. But Carter's Sun and Anderson's Saturn are conjunct Jupiter and Saturn and the conjunction is always considered stronger than the square. The setting and rising position of the great conjunction in the U.S. is stronger than Brazil's where it occurs at its lowest point. In France the great conjunction is also rising and setting, but both the country and its leader Giscard d'Estaing have the Moon in aspect, showing unrest & fluctuations rather than violence. The USSR has the conjunction of December culminating and the one of July 24th setting in one area and at its lowest point in another. This is powerful indeed, so is the fact that Brezhnev has 3 planets in aspect, including Uranus which always brings unexpected results. Turkey has both conjunctions angular and both the country and its leader have Mars aspects, aggressive to say the least. China's Sun and Uranus are involved, again promising important yet unpredictable changes, whereas Australia has Saturnian involvements, probably imposing some limitations and/or new responsibilities. But do remember that Brazil, China and Australia have no other planets on the angles together with the great conjunction.

It is also interesting to note that of 12 South American countries the great conjunction culminates in 6 of them; but only 3, Brazil, Guyana and Venezuela, have the country and the leader also in aspect.

Worth observing will be Africa. Of the so-called "Hunger Belt" involving 17 countries and 23 Million people, only 4 seem really affected: Kenya, Sudan, Tanzania and Zambia. That does not mean that these 4 countries will have terrible problems and the other 13 will not. It could mean the contrary, that the 4 countries will have the strength to overcome their problems, the conjunction giving them the impetus necessary to fight for survival.

Other points of interest may be that Queen Elizabeth II is still "Queen" to all Commonwealth countries and that her Mercury is at 4 Aries 45; that Yasir Arafat has no official country, only a 'cause', but he has his Moon at 11 Aries, conjunct Uranus at 10 Aries 45 and Mercury at 8 Libra. That states and cities also have charts: Los Angeles for example has its Venus at 8 Libra; Washington DC has Saturn at 7 Aries 45 and Venus at 12 Aries; New York's Sun is at 11 Capricorn 30 and Jupiter at 9 Libra 30. You can check your own state or city for aspects.

What does all this tell us? I'll leave the mundane interpretation to each of you, ^{but} ~~the~~ first and most obvious conclusion is that all of us on this earth are interconnected. If the great conjunction affects Jimmy Carter because his Sun is at 8 Libra, it will also affect 55 other leaders who have aspects. And if it involves Austria or Guinea who's Suns are at 8 Libra, so will it involve 89 other countries in some way, shape or form. We are all linked and no man or country is an island anymore.

The second and even more important conclusion is that a Great Mutation is the beginning of a new cycle, not necessarily a specific event. There will always be wars and earthquakes and uprisings and hurricanes. If you look at history in capsule fashion, you know that something is always happening somewhere. There is never a year or month or week or day when nothing is recorded. Life goes on, and as some people or some ideas die, new ones are born. The Great Mutation is just one of the great cycles of history, and as such it should awaken us, the world, to the best and the worst that Gemini, Libra and Aquarius can offer. The leaders who happen to be in charge at this time will all, in their way, play a part in the larger scope of destiny.

Explanation for the above table: (or following if you prefer to put the explanation first)

As of September 1980 there are 168 independent nations. The birthday for each was determined by using the last officially adapted constitution. France for example would not be 'born' at the time of Charlemagne but on October 5, 1958 when the 5th Republic, under de Gaulle, was officially voted in. In South America this presented quite a few problems, since there are coup d'etats or military take-overs every month. But until a new constitution is voted in, the old one is still in effect. El Salvador for example is still using the constitution of January 5, 1962, though they had a few government revolutions since and are now governed by a junta. This just to explain where the planets used in column 2 are taken from.

Column 3 shows where the great conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter is angular, in other words where it rises, culminates, sets or is found on the lowest point. Jim Lewis Astro*Carto*Graphy map shows this very plainly. It also shows if some other planet happens to be angular at the same time. I have marked this with a + (plus) sign in column 3. The usual mundane explanation for the angles is that rising and culminating are more aggressive, whereas setting or at its lowest point is considered passive - sometimes ready to be attacked.

Column 4 indicates if any of the leaders of these countries have planets in aspect to the great conjunction. The leaders were the ones in charge as of September 1980. For the United States I have marked Carter's, Reagan's & Anderson's aspects. Where there is a junta or a committee of 3, there obviously is no one person in charge. In Bolivia there had just been a coup and the General's birthday was unknown, also he was not as yet truly in charge. China was just changing leadership and had not officially elected anyone. South Korea had a military takeover and no one knew General Chun Doo Hwan's birthday. Vietnam's Ton Duc Thang could only be determined as 1888. Vanuatu, one of the newest countries has a Prime Minister called Walter Lini but no representation in the United States to give any information. Some Middle Eastern countries and especially some of the African countries don't keep any birthdata. But all told we are only missing 16 leaders, which is not going to make a major change in the picture. (See Question Marks in column 4.) All other empty spaces are because the country or the leader have no aspects to the great conjunction. Only solar charts were used, all based on 12 noon.
